anilyapps.com

I build what sits behind the site, not only what visitors see.

A website is not just pages: bookings, payments, email and analytics are part of it too. I set up, test and launch everything listed below on my own.

Corporate and marketing websites

From design and copy to mobile layout and page speed. Your site opens equally well on phone, tablet and desktop, and a customer reaches you in two taps.

Bookings and appointments

Customers pick a slot themselves; confirmations and reminders go out automatically. No phone calls about appointments during your busiest hours.

Online payments

Card, instalment and subscription flows. The record is created the moment the payment clears, and invoicing is ready.

Admin panel

You update prices, content, images and stock yourself. Nobody is needed for a small change.

Business email

Mailboxes on your own domain. The emails you send arrive without landing in spam.

Getting found on Google

Search setup, page speed and visitor measurement. You see which search term brings how many people to your site.

AI assistant

Answers questions coming from WhatsApp and Instagram 24/7 and captures the interested customer with their price, stock or booking question.

Automation and alerts

When a form is filled, an order arrives or a payment completes, you hear about it immediately. The system handles the repetitive work while you run your business.

You do not need a separate agency, designer or developer. And I will not sell you a service you do not need.

I built every product below.

All of them are live right now and used by real customers. I ran design, development and launch on my own; some of them include a mobile app and a payment infrastructure.

Sailio sailio.co

Boat rental platform. Owners and agencies manage their listings; customers check availability and book.

Listing management, availability calendar, online payment

CourtON courton.club

Court booking and club management for padel clubs. Membership, coaching, tournaments and payments in one place.

Court calendar, membership, tournaments, mobile app

Digital Staff Pro digitalstaffpro.com

AI sales assistant working through WhatsApp. It answers the incoming question and captures the interested customer.

Knowledge base, lead capture, WhatsApp connection

Düğünio dugunio.app

Digital invitations and guest management. RSVP, gifts and congratulations run from a single panel.

Invitation page, RSVP, gift flow

StudyGo studygo.fyi

Study abroad application platform. University catalogue, application tracking and a student panel.

Catalogue, application tracking, student panel

GoHighRank gohighrank.bid

A user lists their product and moves up the ranking as they pay. The order is public and updates live.

Paid ranking, daily archive, public board

AdHero adhero.fyi

A tool that reads a brand and produces ads. It studies the address you give it and prepares ad creatives that fit your brand.

Brand profile, ad creatives, social media copy

anilyapps anilyapps.com

My own portfolio site and project archive. Everything described in this brochure can be reviewed there.

Project archive, contact form, email delivery

In each of these products, the product decisions, the design, the development and the launch are mine. A small landing page and a large platform are built the same way.

Clear scope, clear timeline, one point of contact.

No middlemen: you talk to the person doing the work. You see what is done at every stage and can step in whenever you want.

Conversation

I listen to what you need and where you want to get. I say plainly what can be done, what is unnecessary and how long it will take.

Proposal

Scope, timeline and price are given in writing. Nothing starts before you approve, and no surprise items appear later.

Build

I set the site up at a live address, so you follow the process too. I take your feedback at every stage.

Launch and after

I put the site live and show you how to use the panel. Maintenance and development support continue after that.

I take small jobs too

A one page site, a launch announcement, forms and email setup, speeding up an existing site or making it mobile friendly are all in scope. No matter how small the job is, you know the price and the timeline in writing before we start.

Let’s talk

One sentence about your site is enough; I come back with the scope and the price.
